

May 2018

Starting this month we wanted to take the time to share with our customers about what is going on around the farm. The word "BUSY" seems to describe the month of May quite well. We have been installing new water and fence systems for rotational grazing at our new Hartville farm. The grazing system will allow us to rotate the cattle across 15 paddocks on the farm while having fresh water in each. We are firm believers in the power of rotational grazing and its benefits to the land and cattle. Also, the remainder of the fall calves have now been weaned and we think the 2017 calf crop is our best yet. Be on the look-out for some stout bulls that will be available in the fall. The spring growing season is in full swing here and hay season officially kicked off for us as of a few days ago. We hope everything is going great at your farm and as always welcome your call or visit anytime. BR 5/29/18
